ONLINE SAFETY AWARENESS

The General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR) was enacted in May 2018. The second law is set to be effective on February 17, 2024, and is called the Digital Services Act (DSA). In March 2024, another law protecting consumer privacy, the Digital Markets Act, will be enacted.
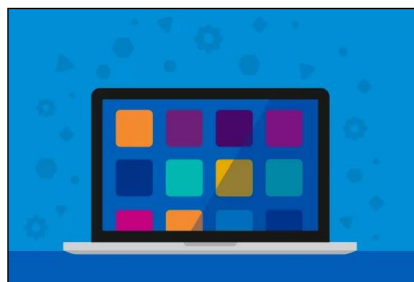

Data privacy regulation in 2024: what we're watching.
Data privacy saw a lot of change and advancement in 2023. More regulations, more requirements from businesses and more consumer expectations. There is unprecedented opportunity for innovation and 2024 promises that change will accelerate even faster. Let's look at what to expect in data privacy.

Technology days are a reminder of the country's technological advancements and by celebrating them we are also commemorating the scientific and technological achievements of scientists, engineers and technicians honouring technological innovations that have added to the national growth.

In organisations staff importance are pivotal when it comes to the organisation's ability to operate safely and securely. Thus, it is vital that employees have all the information and knowledge they need to support the security of a company's network and information systems as going after the "human element" (social engineering) has become the easiest way to target and gain access to valuable company data.

You are to prepare and deliver a Workshop to your class. The topic and scope of your presentation will be defined by you.

"Relying on the government to protect your privacy is like asking a peeping tom to install your window blinds."

John Perry Barlow (1947 – 2018), American political activist and privacy campaigner

CONTENTS

You will choose the contents which better the purpose. Just make sure that the workshop has a structure and is coherent. However, online safety awareness is a theme which cannot be taken lightly as each one of us is a digital user and as such, a potential target.

ACTIVITIES

▪ Workshops and Training Sessions (cover topics such as recognising phishing attempts and understanding privacy settings on social media.)

▪ Privacy Awareness Campaigns (share tips, infographics, and resources on protecting personal information online.)

▪ Data Protection Challenges (challenges or quizzes related to data protection.)

▪ Data Cleanup Day (demonstrate how to review and update one's privacy settings on various online platforms.)

▪ Privacy Pledge Video (encourage people to take a privacy pledge, committing to protecting their personal information and respecting the privacy of others. AND create a public display or social media campaign featuring individuals and organisations taking the pledge.)

▪ Data Protection Day Webinars (host an event)

RESOURCES

Bear in mind that a presentation should be both clear and entertaining. Thus, the following resources and tools will prove to be a plus:
